Library:

We have some more new books and magazines in the library. These were donated by Steve Eli and Jeff Hancock. This month I would like to mention the study casts that are available in the library. We have animals, faces, ducks, face sticks, etc. These casts provide a realistic look that a magazine can't show. Also, remember that we have several cut outs and roughouts that members can take to carve for Carvings for Charity plus ornament cutouts. These will be no cost to the member as long as they donate them to benefit our charity, Easter Seals.

SCRIBBLES :

Since I spent a week at a carving seminar in Springfield, MO at the end of March, this month's Scribbles section will be a report on that seminar project.

The seminar was instructed by Vic Hood. The project was to use full size mallet tools to carve a bust, subject of the student's choice. The project started with a butternut log that Vic had roughed out with a chainsaw.

The pictures to the right are of the original rough out and of the progress at the end of each day. The final three pictures are of the project as it was at the end of the 5 day seminar. The bust still needs a lot of work to be complete.

The following pictures are of some carvings done by other carvers during the class. It was a great class and I learned a lot. Vic Hood's class is one I would recommend for anyone that doesn't mind using mallet tools and wants to advance their carving skills.

Jim Tharp is a new member and a chainsaw carver. He plans to carve at our show this year and has donated a carving to the club. (Picture of the carving below.) Please join me in thanking Jim for his generous donation.
